

Basic and expert training 2026

March 23 – 26, 2026

KLS Martin WORLD in Tuttlingen

Welcome to the 16th basic and expert training 2026!

Are you a distributor or a KLS Martin sales staff member who is interested in advanced surgical techniques in the field of electrosurgery and surgical laser systems? Then our expert training is just the right training for you!

Training suits your needs – choose the courses that are right for you!

For beginners, our ICE training courses offer foundational modules that build knowledge step by step and help you develop your skills.

For experienced participants, we offer specialized advanced courses that provide deeper insights and expanded knowledge. The Basic and Expert modules can also be booked separately, so you can select the content that matches your level of experience.

Both modules – Basic and Expert – can be combined flexibly, allowing you to plan your participation according to your needs.

What can you expect from the basic and expert training 2026?

- + Detailed product trainings to train your knowledge of energy devices
- + Workshops for training a successful customer approach
- + Insights into anatomy and product benefits from clinical speakers
- + Information about upcoming products
- + Networking with people from around the world

The Expert module will cover many new products, making the training more engaging.

Visit our website to register for your course and find out more about our vision.
